This is an office action for serial number 10/776,999.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35

U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 17-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for the a connecting member or handle fixed to the rear side of the flat panel display, does not reasonably provide enablement for a pivot fixed to a rear side of the flat panel display. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. The flat panel has a handle or connecting member attached/fixed to the rear side of the flat panel which extends outwardly/upwardly from the flat panel rear side to a pivot point or pivot member respectively. The actual rear side of the flat panel display does is not fixed to a actual pivot (e.g. hinge or ball and socket).

Reissue Applications

Claims 20-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 251 as being an improper recapture of broadened claimed subject matter surrendered in the application for the patent upon which the present reissue is based. See Pannu v. Storz Instruments Inc., 258 F.3d 1366, 59 USPQ2d 1597 (Fed. Cir. 2001); Hester Industries, Inc. v. Stein, Inc., 142 F.3d 1472, 46 USPQ2d 1641 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Clement, 131 F.3d 1464, 45 USPQ2d 1161 (Fed. Cir. 1997); Ball Corp. v. United States, 729 F.2d 1429, 1436, 221 USPQ 289, 295 (Fed. Cir. 1984). A broadening aspect is present in the reissue which was not present in the application for patent. The record of the application for the patent shows that the broadening aspect (in the reissue) relates to claim subject matter that applicant previously surrendered during the prosecution of the application. Accordingly, the narrow scope of the claims in the patent was not an error within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 251, and the broader scope of claim subject matter surrendered in the application for the patent cannot be recaptured by the filing of the present reissue application. The broadening aspect that relates to claim subject matter that applicant previously surrendered during the prosecution of the application is the second arm portion inflected with respect to the first arm portion.

Claims 20-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 251 as being based upon new matter added to the patent for which reissue is sought. The added material which is not supported by the prior patent is as follows: The applicant claims that the second arm portion is inflected with respect to the first arm portion however this limitation is new matter since the original patent does not disclose that the second arm is inflected toward the first arm. The patent only states that the first and second arms form an obtuse angle.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 17, 18, 20-23 are rejected, as best understood, under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chen et al. (Chen) 5,812,368. Chen discloses a pivot (221, 235, 234, and 213), a supporting member comprising a first and second arm portion where an obtuse angle (or inflected with respect to the arms) is formed between the first arm portion (211) and the second arm portion (212, 22); the second arm portion comprising openings (222 or 34), stand member (3).

Art Unit: 3632

Claims 20 and 22 are rejected, as best understood, under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sweere et al. (Sweere) 5,842,672. Sweere discloses pivot (34, 22, or 32), supporting member comprising a first and second arm portion (100b and 100a, respectively), the second arm portion comprising openings (see figure 3).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chen 5,812,368. Chen discloses all of the limitation of the claimed invention except for the stand member being made of rubber. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the stand member being made of rubber, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-16 are allowed.
